There's something about the Italian Riviera that changes the way you cook. The food is lighter, brighter, and built on ingredients that don't need much help. This Pasta Portofino is exactly that.

Inspired by the coastal village of Portofino, this dish brings together the bold freshness of basil, the sweetness of ripe tomatoes, and the richness of good olive oil. It's often described as a cross between a tomato sauce and Pesto alla Genovese—but simpler, looser, and meant to taste like summer.

No cream. No mozzarella. Just real ingredients, handled the right way.

Things to know about this Authentic

What Makes This Dish Authentic

- No cream – the sauce is emulsified with olive oil and pasta water

Tips for the Best Flavor

- Use the best olive oil you have—it matters here
  - Don't over blend the basil; texture is part of the dish
  - Salt your pasta water well—it's your first layer of seasoning
  - Add pasta water gradually—you're looking for a light coating, not a heavy sauce

Serving

Serve immediately, with extra Parmigiano Reggiano on the side and maybe a glass of crisp white wine. This is a dish that doesn't wait—and doesn't need anything else.

Final Note

This isn't about perfection. It's about balance—fresh, simple, and coastal. The kind of pasta that feels like it came straight out of a small kitchen overlooking the sea in Portofino.
